

Chinese research firm Analysys International just released findings on the RFID market in China, which appears to be growing at an enviable rate. According to Analysys, the market grew 23.4 percent in just the second quarter alone, when it reached RMB 1.076 billion, or roughly US$143 million.

Complete Content Not Available in PDF Format See: <http://www.rfidjournal.com/article/view/6840>